MEMORIES

We were a considerable way through a Saturday evening Mass when we heard the sounds of a storm outside -- the rain hitting the windows, the wind blowing, and the crash of lightning and thunder. After one particularly loud clap of thunder, the lights in the church flickered and then went off. The priest was able to conclude the Mass and people waited for the storm to subside before going to their cars. A large branch of a tree had come crashing down across the driveway by the main vestibule of the church, blocking access at that part of the driveway. One parishioner took ownership of the situation. He went home, picked up his chainsaw and, just as quickly as the branch had come down, he cleared the driveway so everyone could go home.

SHARE YOUR MEMORIES WITH US! You can submit them to nzola@leothegreat.org or write it down on a piece of paper and turn it in to the Rectory Office. We also welcome photos throughout the year of the people and events taking place. Send them to photos@leothegreat.org

Our statue of St. Leo the Great has undergone several makeovers through the years. Besides having the paint touched up, the mitre and staff have been replaced.

READINGS FOR THE WEEK

FIRST READING: WISDOM 12:13, 16-19

The book of Wisdom was written about 50 years before Christ. In one lengthy section of this book, the author looks back to the wonderful things God did for the Jewish people during the exodus. In today's passage from that section, the author speaks directly to God with words of praise.

SECOND READING: ROMANS 8:26-27

We continue to read from the eighth chapter of the letter to the Romans, in which Paul discusses the role of God's Spirit in our life. Today's brief reading gives us a remarkable insight into prayer.

A DEEPER UNDERSTANDING OF SCRIPTURE

Patience is rooted in Hope (an image of a bush filled with birds would be great) Life, like the church, is often burdened with evil, smallness, and impurities. The Lord's parables give us a hope-filled perspective on all three.

Evil: in Jesus' parable about the good farmer whose enemy plants weeds at night, Jesus tells us that God is not the cause of evil but permits evil to exist with good out of his patient love. He will finally deal with it, but his love lets things stay messy for a time.

Smallness: It's funny that Jesus says his kingdom looks like ... wait for it ... a bush. What a letdown! Yet this little shrub still somehow has room for all the birds of the sky. The smallness of the Church, and even our own little lives, still provides plenty of room for all whom God sends.

Impurities: divisions and hypocrisies in the Church and our own hearts exasperate us. Recall that Jesus compares his kingdom to a lump of dough with impure leaven eating away at it and therefore making it expand. It's the secret of the Cross. Not how we'd prefer it.

But finally, great news. The field, the bush, the loaf: all three parables invite us to embrace a patience rooted in hope: one day the field will be weeded, the bush filled with birds, and the risen loaf leaven-free. — Father John Muir

PRACTICING CATHOLIC "THE CATHOLIC BUBBLE"

By: Colleen Dorman

There's a dangerous myth that exists among pockets of faithful, observant Catholic families. I call it the Legend of the Catholic Bubble.

Here's how the legend goes: you find a devout Catholic parish and a devout Catholic community filled with devout Catholic people who care about devout Catholic things, and you stay away from everything and everyone else, you and your children will be safe from the influence of the evil one. Your children will never fall away from the faith, or even be tempted, and your own faith will stay steel-strong amidst the many tempests and trials of this earthly life.

But like the Loch Ness Monster and the Abominable Snowman, it's all made up. Don't misunderstand me: I love a good devout Catholic parish. I live for a supportive, devout Catholic community. It's one of the biggest blessings in the Christian life, and I cannot overstate how helpful it is to raise children in an environment that upholds your Catholic faith and does not denigrate it.

But. But.

Make no mistake: the Catholic Bubble will not save you. The trials and the temptations will find you there, too: on the parish council, at Catholic school, in your Catholic moms' group. No community on earth is so supportive that it mimics Heaven. The weeds have been sown with the good seed, and the harvest time is not yet upon us.

Cherish your community, certainly — but beware of the lure of the Catholic Bubble. We are called to be yeast in the loaf of bread, and yeast is nothing on its own.

EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP "Do What Needs To Be Done"

By: Tracy Earl Welliver, MTS

A friend recently confided in me that although he prayed frequently each day and was involved heavily in his parish, he did not sense much fruit coming from it all and was left feeling unsatisfied. I assured him he was not alone. I told him of a deceased pastor of mine who had spoken frequently about being in this type of situation. Even as a priest, he knew all too well of how we can feel like we are simply going through the motions. It is precisely at those times that continuing to pray and practicing good stewardship is most important, because it would be easier to simply take a break and risk never coming back. He liked to say, "Do the drill," meaning just do what needs to be done.

We are all called to be mature disciples who answer the call of Jesus Christ regardless of the cost. We cannot choose when and where the call will come. We cannot schedule our stewardship in a way that is always most convenient for us. Even when the fruits of our faithful efforts seem hidden from us, we hold to the promise that we are never called to give of ourselves for nothing. God is working through us and in us. No matter how dry the land may seem, seeds are being planted to yield a harvest greater than we can ever realize. Stay strong and do the drill!

"And the one who searches hearts knows what is the intention of the Spirit, because he intercedes for the holy ones according to God's will." — Romans 8:27

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

Dear Parishioners,

Since there isn't a whole lot going on in the parish right now as we are right in the middle of the summer months, I thought I'd share with you some information from the website of the Diocese of Cleveland which speaks about our diocesan Cathedral:

Visiting the Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist in downtown Cleveland is an unusual experience for many people. In order to help more of the faithful experience the mother church of the diocese, Theology on the Rocks West hosted a tour of the cathedral recently.

Diane Fusco, a longtime cathedral parishioner and docent, guided the visitors through the church and pointed out many interesting things as she briefed them on their history and significance. The cathedral is the bishop's church, which is evident because the cathedra, or special seat used by the bishop, is located there.

Fusco said the cathedral's census includes about 1,100 households and about 1,700 people from all over the diocese. "It's a diverse group of people," she said.

Prior to the 1847 establishment of the diocese, Cincinnati was the only diocese in Ohio. Amadeus Rappe was named the first bishop and one of the first decisions was where to locate the cathedral. A church already existed in The Flats (St. Mary) but the new bishop decided to purchase property at what is now East Ninth Street and Superior Avenue, Fusco said.

Construction began in 1848 and the first Mass was celebrated in 1852. The current altar is located about where the original one was. The building is of the neo Gothic style.

"We look up when entering," Fusco said, noting the building and its artwork are meant to inspire people and help to pass on the faith. "The pillars and arches take our minds to heaven," she added.

The windows were plain glass until the 50th anniversary of the diocese when stained-glass windows were installed. Fusco said the beauty of the windows reminds us of the glory to come.

The original church was red brick. During World War II, it was painted gray. There are paintings and other ornamentations over the doors and scattered throughout the church. Fusco said during the war, the cathedral was filled with people praying for the safety of soldiers. After the war, in 1948, the cathedral was rebuilt and expanded. Although there had been thought of moving it to the University Circle area, diocesan officials decided to keep it at the same location.

Fusco said various bishops added their touches to the church. The stained-glass windows show important scenes from Church history and help to tell stories through the images.

The large Holtkamp pipe organ – it has 4,360 pipes -- can be played up in the choir loft or in front of the intricate, carved wooden reredos that consists of 850 pieces. The reredos, hand carved from Appalachian oak, features statues of St. John the Evangelist as well as Matthew, Mark and Luke.

The three doors on the East Ninth Street main entrance represent the Trinity. The Latin for we praise you, we bless you, we adore you is painted above the doors.

The Sacred Heart Chapel area contains a mural of the apocalypse. Across the church is a shrine to Mary featuring statues of people important to the Blessed Mother including her mother, St. Anne, and St. Joseph, her husband. Murals were done with the wet plaster technique (to be continued next week).

THE HOLY LAND SHEPHERDS

The carving of the Olive Wood Tree has been inherited since the time of our Lord, Jesus Christ. It was passed down from father to son for many generations including our family. More than 80% of the Christian community income comes from tourism and the olive wood trade. However, due to the ongoing difficult circumstances and the tremendous decrease in tourism the Christian community has suffered many hardships that led many Christian Families to leave their homes in search of work and safety.

Our mission is to support and strengthen the presence of Christianity in the Holy Land by selling their beautiful olive wood artifacts here in the United States. We have been blessed and grateful to have had the opportunity to travel to different parishes all around the United States for the past 15 years to represent these less fortunate Christians. We are happy to announce that we will be visiting your parish on August 5th & 6th.

We encourage you to look over their beautiful hand carved items. We value your support. We will be accepting cash credit cards & checks.

May God bless you & keep you safe.
